Carthey Speaks At Last Week's Kiwanis Club

Joe F. Carthey, second vice-president of the Saddleback Kiwanis Club of Laguna Hills, was the guest speaker at last week's regular Monday noon meeting of the club in Clubhouse No. 2 of Leisure World.

Carthey, veteran Kiwanis member from Salt Lake City, traced some of the backgrounds of the various members to better acquaint club members with each other.

The Saddleback Kiwanis Club of Laguna Hills received its official charter recently at an official dinner held at the Newport Inn.

Charter members of the local organization include Howard D. Bartlett, Col. Thomas H. Bradley, Chester Briner, Frank J. Bruins, and Joe F. Carthey.

Other original charter members include Harold D. Conklin, Norman Covington, Fred Richard Davis, G. A. "Dick" Deichert, Irvin J. Duhn, Reginald G. Hawley, Ray Hester, Carl G. Hocker, Joe Iacovo, Jay I. Ingall, Walker James, Harold Jones, Thom Keith and Harry C. Kenawell.

Also Don R. Knox, Rev. Robert H. Lange, Tom Lowe, McKay Mitchell, James E. Morrison, Lloyd Moore, William D. Stocks, Dr. Roy C. Parkhill, Robert F. Perdue, Maurice E. Ramsey and the Rev. John E. Simpson.

Additional charter members of the new club include Daniel T. Thomas, Donald D. Tiffany, Carl E. Venstrom, Fred Walz, William T. Wells and Judge O. Benton Worley.

Teen-agers: Can You Get Your Driver's License?

Teen-agers 16 and 17 years old cannot be issued driver's licenses by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

This has been in effect since June 30, 1967.

The law includes youthful holders of six month learning permits. This law was passed in 1965 and went into effect the first of July of this year.

A teen-ager's sixteenth birthday will no longer be the qualifying age for a driver's license unless he has met the classroom and behind-the-wheel training requirements now prescribed in the vehicle code. To get a driver's license without such training, he has to be 18 years old.

When applying for a license, young people between the ages of 16 and 18 years old must produce evidence that they have completed approved courses of driver education (the necessary 30 hours of classroom instructions) as well as 6 hours of behind the wheel supervised driving.

GI-ANTEATER TOURNEY--To herald the First Annual Anteater Invitational, U.C.I. cheerleaders Londa Stewart and Patty Burke use a large economy size golf ball. To be held August 11th at the Mission Viejo Golf Course the event is a benefit with all proceeds going to the U.C.I. athletic scholarship fund. Deadline for entries is Aug. 4th.

Irvine Co. Starts Building To House Offices in '68

A look-into the -future climaxed by ground breaking for the new nine-story Irvine Building was taken this week in Newport Center.

The new $4.2 million building will serve as headquarters for the Irvine Company and as nucleus of the Newport Financial Plaza, a 16-acre cluster of buildings for finance-oriented firms.

It will rise adjacent to the roadway that encircles Fashion Island, largest of the projects proposed for the 622-acre Newport Center embracing both the Island and the Plaza.

It is located above East Coast Highway and MacArthur Blvd. at Corona del Mar.

Fashion Island buildings, including Buffum's, May Co., and Broadway will open in September, plus the Irvine Building and the medical center, representing $50 million in building construction to date.

OC Turf Club Receives Postponement On Seventy-Five Days of Racing

The recently formed Orange County Turf Club's bid for 75 days of thoroughbred racing in the spring and fall of 1968 was postponed by the State Racing Board last Thursday because of the lack of complete information.

The board did not name a new meeting date, stating only that the application for the additional racing days was accepted and a decision would come when additional information was presented to them.

Max A. Sturges, a Newport Beach lawyer, said the OCTC has a 9-month option to lease approximately 400 acres of unincorporated land bounded by the Santa Ana Freeway on the north and the Santa Fe Railroad tracks on the south. The property lies southeast of the Newport Freeway interchange.

The lease would run 56 years. Sturges said several property owners are involved in the transaction. The land is zoned agricultural and is surrounded by the Irvine Ranch.

Sturges added that Arthur Froelich, designer of the Hollywood Park and Del Mar tracks as well as others, would be the architect for the Orange County racing plant.

He said the track and stands would cost $16 million, another $3 to $4 million would be spent on an adjacent hotel.

"We would hope to hold 40 days

One thousand Orange Countians are being invited to the First Annual Anteater Invitational, a benefit golf tournament to boost the athletic scholarship program at the University of California at Irvine.

The new Mission Viejo Golf Club course will be the site of the Friday, August 11 tourney. The tournament will be co-staged by the U.C.I. Booster Club and the Mission Viejo Golf Club.

In making the announcement, Tournament Director Dick Davis, basketball and golf coach at the university, explained that all U.C. athletic scholarships must be privately funded. So, the job of raising scholarship money falls to groups such as the U.C.I. Boosters.

Davis indicated that all proceeds from the full day of activities will be turned over to the scholarship program. The Boosters Club is providing manpower while Mission Viejo is contributing its course and its electric carts at no cost, Davis said. All profits from food and refreshments will also be turned over to the fund by the golf club, he added.

Resembling a golf fair more than a tournament, the First Annual Anteater Invitational will have separate 9-hole and 18-hole tournaments, plus a variety of special events headed by a $1,000 hole-in-one tournament.

"The tourney is designed to allow participants to devote a full day to the event, or simply to take off early from work and get in a quick nine holes," Davis said. "All can also enter the putting contest, closest-to-the-pin contest, a longest drive contest and other events. Those unable to play during the day can come for the patio barbeque, in the evening."

Davis said that the $15 entry fee includes green fees, cart rental, and dinner. He suggested that anyone wishing to get on the invitation list contact him at 833-6935. Other tournament information may be obtained from the assistant tournament chairman, Ed Wampler, Mission Viejo head pro, at 837-5604.

Dr. Robert O'Callaghan, Mission Viejo's "resident dentist," and Robert (Bob) Minier, golf coach at Mission Viejo High School, won the Best-Ball-Of-Partners Tournament staged by the Mission Viejo Men's Club, recently at the Mission Viejo course.

The winning score was a net 62. Partners were drawn for the event, the first for the recently-founded Mission Viejo Men's Club.

Coming in second with net 63 were Gene Graham and Jim Boegh. Tied for third with net 64's were Tom Hurd - Gurdon (cc) Henry and Lou Vallas - Bruce Jenkins.

Two of Orange County's best known amateur golfers, Dr. Bill Foote, and Don Turner, both of Santa Ana, have joined the Mission Viejo Golf Club, reports Ed Wampler, head pro at the new 18-hole layout in southeastern Orange County.

News Briefs

BOARD OF TRUSTEES CANDIDATE — McKay Mitchell has entered his name for consideration by the Board of Trustees of the San Joaquin School District when they decide on a replacement for Capt. J. D. Smith.

$25,000 GIFT — A proposed gift of $25,000, half the cost of landscaping Mission Viejo High School, has been offered to Tustin Union High School District board of trustees from the Mission Viejo Co. Decision on the gift, possibly based on a "compromise," will be made at the board's next regular meeting.

CONTINUATION HIGH SCHOOL COMING? — Tustin Union High School District administration was directed by the board of Trustees to continue a search for an administrator and begin work on establishing a state-designated necessary small high school for continuation classes as is already in operation in the Santa Ana School District.

EDITORIAL:

New Highways Require Safety

Congratulations to the California State Division of Highways for the improvements that are scheduled to be made to the San Diego Freeway and for the El Toro Road Freeway Interchange.

By late 1968 the freeway through the area will be eight lanes wide and the on and off ramps on El Toro Road will be relocated and widened, with completed signal planned for both the Leisure World side and the El Toro side of the freeway. Other highway improvements are also being made in our area.

But the state highway officials, in giving their report to this newspaper last week, also sent out a plea to parents to help by instructing youngsters to keep clear of the construction area, and never to play on or near equipment, bridge scaffolding and falsework.

This is the responsibility we as parents must face up to if we are to enjoy fast, modern highways with a minimum of injuries and deaths. We must protect our children by insisting they stay away from all freeway construction.

And perhaps we should take another look at our own driving habits. Our freeway is fast and crowded with many visitors here during the summer, and the accident rate is going up. The highway patrol is constantly patrolling the stretch of highway between El Toro and Tustin but every day sees more accidents with damage to person and automobile.

It appears that we not only need to drive within the speed limit, with a safe distance between our car and the one ahead of us, but that we must do more "accident preventive driving." That is, we must not only drive well ourselves but must look out for the other driver—the immature driver, the driver who is not acquainted with our area, or the driver that is a danger on the road.

The California State Division of Highways can build us an excellent freeway system but it is up to us as individuals to see that the automobiles and people within them are functioning properly.

Safety of our children and personal, driving care are some of the responsibilities that go with modern freeways and increased population.

'Leisure' Hobbyists Prepare For Show

Leisure World hobbyists are busy getting ready for the Third Annual Hobby Show sponsored by the Education and Recreation Department, providing an opportunity for them to display their favorite avocations.

The show runs August 11 and 12, from 11 a.m. - 4 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday in the Main Lounge, Clubhouse 1.

Early registrations indicate the show will feature ship models, mosaic clocks, cane weaving, ceramics, jewelry making, wood carvings, and an Indian doll collection.

Art Festival Features Unique Puppets

Children as well as adults are entertained daily at the Laguna Beach Festival of Arts by a unique puppet show which has proved immensely popular for young and old alike.

Rene and his artists are presenting an all new concert in miniature every day of the Festival's run from July 7 to August 19. The new production, "Toy Shop Fantastique," is offered four times daily for the young in heart among the Festival's thousands of visitors attending during the week and six performances on Saturday and five on Sunday.

According to Rene, the 45-minute show is designed for the whole family. The puppet master and his staff have combined their talents with the toy soldier puppets and the music of Tchaikovsky, notably the "Sleeping Beauty Ballet."

Other activities for children at the Festival this year include the children's "free-for-all," in which the young are encouraged to paint in a special section of the Festival grounds.

REFLECTIONS

Truth and Exaggeration

A few days ago I was attacked for an "over exaggerated column" on Higher Education in America. I am still wondering whether I was accused of exaggerating truth or falsehood.

I consider myself a socialante, one who is a concerned citizen, one who is never satisfied with smugness and one who is always pointing to signs that either point to a growing sickness or to our capacity to reach great heights of human achievement.

I am like the human body that reacts to a small boil on the skin. Whereas the boil covers only a small portion of our body, the infection is fought successfully by the antibodies only through an exaggeration of the malady. I am like the human mind that when it finds the person in complete harmony with the surroundings, shows a way to an ecstatic living.

Swift (1667-1745) had a lot of sense when he wrote "How is it possible that mankind will take advice, when they will not so much as take warning?" Another essayist, William Hazlitt (1778-1830) had a lot of wisdom in his saying, "When a thing ceases to be a subject of controversy, it ceases to be a subject of interest."

Let us try to apply the above axioms to the problem of higher education in America. We all agree that America represents the highest achievement in the fields of technology, political consciousness, economic health, and moral awareness not only throughout the world but also throughout man's history. Consequently in our needs to maintain this image and heighten our achievements, we must depend upon some new innovations in our traditional educational system.

We must gently walk away from a system which does not allow each individual to learn at his own God-given ability, which tyrannizes the human mind through a stupid system of grades and I.Q. testing, and which has started to have blind faith in the Bell-shaped curves (statistics). Instead we must replace it with a system that strives to give meaning to each individual and does not accommodate complacency.

Only in that manner can America fulfill its true destiny, the seeds of which were sown by our forefathers.

Tax Free Income

Last week's article presented a brief discussion of municipal bonds and their tax-free features.

Frequently people who are considering an investment in municipal bonds ask, "Can I sell them when I want to?" The answer is definitely "yes." Bonds are bought and sold in much the same fashion as are stocks.

The quality of municipal bonds is derived from the fact that payment of principal and interest is assured by the governing agency that issues them. General obligation municipal bonds are backed by the taxing power of the issuing agency. The municipality involved assumes the obligation of paying the bonds and the voters, in authorizing the bond issue, also authorize their government to levy the taxes necessary to pay the indebtedness incurred by the issue.

Another form of municipal bonds is the revenue bond. These bonds are backed by the income derived from a project that is built with the proceeds of the bond sale. An example of a revenue bond would be one that is issued to finance a toll road or toll bridge. The revenue from the road or bridge is used to pay off the bond issue.

Although municipal bonds are rated second in quality only to U.S. Government securities, one should not assume that there is always a profit. The prices of the bonds move up and down, generally with the interest rate. Consequently, one should be aware of current interest rates as well as prospects for the future before investing in bonds.

Another factor to consider is the yield to maturity. A bond issued in a period of low interest rates might yield only 3% on its face value of $1,000. When interest rates elsewhere rise to 4 1/2%, the 3% bond is not so attractive — if you pay $1,000 for it. However, in this situation, one might be able to buy the $1,000 bond for about $800, thereby increasing the current yield to 3.7%. If the bond matures in 10 years, the buyer will realize another $200 at that time, making his total yield for the 10 year period $500 or, on an annual basis, 6.2%.
